

Cyril Gallagher

Rushworth Chronicle

4 August, 1916

A sad death occurred at Rushworth on Sunday evening last when a young lad, nine years of age, named Cyril Gallagher, succumbed to an attack of congestion of the lungs after but a few days' illness.

Deceased was a son of Mr Thomas Gallagher, junr., but had resided for some years with his grand-parents (Mr and Mrs Thomas Gallagher) at Rushworth. He was a fine little fellow.

The remains were interred in the local cemetery on Monday afternoon, the funeral procession being led by a large number of boys, schoolfellows of deceased. The funeral cortege was a lengthy one.

Rev. Father Moran, (assisted by Rev. Dr Meyer), officiated at the grave, while Mr E. Anderson had charge of the mortuary arrangements.
