

Daughter of Mr and Mrs Little

Rushworth Chronicle

1 March, 1918

Mr Little, postmaster. Rush worth, has received notice of his transference to Cobram, and was to have taken his departure for there on Wednesday evening last, but circumstances occasioned delay. Mr Little has been singularly unfortunate in that, at the time appointed for his removal, one of his family has been stricken with severe illness.

The patient, a child a few months' old, has been literally at death's door, but is now showing signs of improvement, and has a fair chance of recovery.

Mr Little's successor at the post office will be Mr Nicholas, who leaves Tungamah to take up his new duties.

Rushworth Chronicle

8 March, 1918

Mr and Mrs Little, of the Rushworth post office, had the misfortune to lose their infant daughter on Friday last. As reported in our last issue, the child was very ill suffering from gastro enteritis, and it gradually sank and died from exhaustion.

The remains were interred in the local cemetery on Saturday afternoon. It was bad luck for the bereaved parents coming on the eve of their departure for Cobram.