

Twin daughter child of Mrs Fox

Rushworth Chronicle

24 February, 1899

Mrs Fox, daughter of Mrs Kelly, of Rushworth, lost an infant twin girl aged eight months, on Friday last in pathetic circumstances. Mrs Fox was spending a holiday in Rushworth, and the child sickened on the Tuesday previous to its death from dentition, but there was no indication of any serious ailment.

The mother carefully attended the child, who progressed nicely till Friday afternoon, when a sudden change for the worse appeared.

Mrs Fox immediately sent for medical aid and Dr Christie saw and prescribed for the infant, but ere he had sufficient time to return, the little sufferer had passed away.

The doctor gave a certificate of death and the necessity for an inquest was dispensed with.

The remains were interred at Rushworth on Saturday last.

Much sympathy is felt for Mrs Fox in her bereavement. Some two years since Mrs Fox also lost a twin child.

Second twin

Rushworth Chronicle

3 March, 1899

In our last issue we reported the death of an infant twin female child of Mrs Fox, the daughter of Mrs Kelly. We now regret to learn that the surviving child has also succumbed, the cause of death again being a teething disorder.

The body was brought from Melbourne, where the mother resides, and interred in the Rushworth cemetery on Wednesday last.
