

Mrs H. Braddy

Rushworth Chronicle

4 January, 1901

Mr H. Braddy's friends will regret to learn that his wife expired on Monday last, after a long illness.

The late Mrs Braddy, who was of a very retiring disposition, was a very old resident of Rushworth, having arrived here in the early days of the diggings.

The remains were interred in the local cemetery on Tuesday.

The Rev. Father O'Connell officiated at the grave. Mr Anderson had charge of the mortuary arrangements.
