

Sergeant Wigmore

Waranga Chronicle

11 October, 1882

Sergeant Wigmore, one of the oldest members of the police force, and who has been in charge of the Rushworth Police Station for nearly three years, expired at his residence on Tuesday, the 10th inst., after a very short but severe attack of enteritis, at the age of 55 years.

His remains were interred in the local cemetery yesterday.

Deceased was not a man to make many friends, but all could not but appreciate in him the possession of the somewhat rare qualities of strict integrity, and an unswerving impartiality in the discharge of his duty.
