

William Collins

Waranga Chronicle

16 April, 1886

A miner named William Collins, well known in the Redcastle district, expired at his residence, Rushworth, after a lingering illness, on Monday last.

The deceased was a fine, upright, honest man, and a great favorite with all who knew him.

The respect in which he was held was shown by the number of persons who followed his remains to the local cemetery on Wednesday.

He leaves a widow with a family of young children to mourn their loss.